

There's a war against predators, and you are the key to make it stop

Dear Friend of Cats Aren't Trophies,

This is just a short message to say I'm looking forward to seeing your smiling face Wednesday at noon for our webinar.

It's an opportunity to get together, and to hear from our expert panel as we face an anti-predator crisis in Colorado.

It is virtual. Once you sign up, you will receive the link:

Register By Clicking Here:

Panelists include:

- Dr. Becky Niemiec of the Animal-Human Policy Center at Colorado State University who will present a new study by Colorado State University's Animal-Human Policy Center
- Pat Craig, founder and executive director of the Wild Animal Sanctuary
- Wayne Pacelle, president of Animal Wellness Action and the Center for a Humane Economy
- Marlon Reis, first gentleman of Colorado
- Delia Malone, ecologist and wildlife chair, Sierra Club
- Katie Dolan, environmental writer and author

The webinar will update you on how we, as animal advocates, are participating in Colorado Parks and Wildlife meetings like never before because of Prop 127. How not only are lions and bobcats being inhumanely baited, trapped, hounded and shot for the glory of the weakest of the human species, but wolves are in the crosshairs too. And bears need our help too.

Attendees will learn ways to stay involved and get citizens of Colorado to a better place where science, welfare, rationality and reason prevail when it comes to how we stewardship our wildlife and wildlands in Colorado and the West.

We must undo the anti-predator paradigm in Colorado. When trophy hunters advocate for killing our most majestic species, we say we must protect them for their own sake and for the vast majority of Coloradans who choose our state precisely because of its wild inhabitants.

CATs promotes respect over fear of wildlife, with moral principles, and acknowledges predators are essential actors in our ecosystems.

Please come, bring your energy, enthusiasm and vision for a better Colorado.

Please donate to protect Colorado's native cats!

For the cats,
Julie Marshall
Communications Director